

David Goode is Organist at Eton College, home to an important collection of instruments and some of the UK's most talented young organists; he combines this with a concert career that takes him around the world.

He was a music scholar at Eton College and then organ scholar at King's College, Cambridge graduating with a first and the MPhil. From 1996-2001 he was Sub-Organist at Christ Church, Oxford with whom he toured and made several recordings. Having won the top prizes awarded at the 1997 St Alban's Interpretation Competition, and the Recital Gold Medal at the 1998 Calgary Competition, he concentrated on a freelance career between 2001 and 2003. From 2003-2005, he combined his concert work with the post of Organist-in-Residence at First Congregational Church, Los Angeles, home to the world's largest church organ.

In 1999 he made the first of numerous appearances at the Proms: he gave a solo recital in 2006 and was a Featured Artist in 2011. He has toured widely in Europe, the US and the Far East, and has forged a strong link with the BBCNOW and the BBC Singers. He also has an established partnership with the trumpeter Alison Balsom. In 2016, he performed at the National Convention of the AGO in Houston; more recent appearances have included a live recital for BBC Radio 3 from Queen's, Oxford in October 2019.

He is much in demand as a teacher and was on the jury for the St Albans International Organ Festival in 2017. In recent years he has composed a number of choral and organ works, including a collaboration with the poet Francis Warner; performances include those by the choirs of King's and St. John's Colleges, Cambridge. In September 2013 the Bach Choir and RPO under David Hill gave the premiere of his Blitz Requiem in St. Paul's Cathedral.

Since his first solo CD, 'French Showpieces from King's', recorded while still an undergraduate, his recordings have consistently received critical acclaim. These include several noted Reger recordings ('Finally, there's a set...that competes with Germani's 1960's HMV recordings – I thought the day would never come', Choir and Organ). He has also released discs of Bach from Freiberg and Parry from Eton.

His recording of the complete organ works of Bach from Trinity College, Cambridge on the Signum label is due for release in November 2020.
